FROM BARLOW'S CONSPIRACY OF KINGS.

"WHAT ſtrange events for proud proceſſions call,
See kingdoms crowding to a birth-night ball!
See the long pomp in gorgeous glare diſplay'd,
The tinſel'd guards, the ſquadron'd horſe parade,
See heralds gay, with emblems on their veſts,
In tiſſu'd robe, tall, beauteous pages dreſt;
Amid ſuperior ranks of ſplendid ſlaves,
Lords, dukes and princes, titulary knaves,
Confus'dly ſhine their croſſes, gems and ſtars, Scepters and globes, and crowns, and ſpoils of war.
On gilded orbs ſee thundering chariots roll'd,
Steeds, ſnorting fire, and champing bars of gold,
Prance to the trumpet's voice; while each aſ-
ſumes,
A loftier gait, and lifts his neck of plumes—
High on a moving throne, and near the van,
The TYRANT rides, the choſen ſcourge of man.
Clarions and flutes, and drums his way prepare,
And ſhouting millions rend the troubled air;
Millions, whoſe ceaſeleſs toils the pomp ſuſtain,
Whoſe hour of ſtupid joy, repays an age of pain.
Of theſe no more. From Orders, Slaves and Kings
To the O MAN, my heart rebounding ſprings,
Behold the aſcending bliſs that waits your call,
Heaven's own bequeſt, the heritage of all.
Awake to wiſdom, ſeize the proffer'd prize,
From ſhade to light, from grief to glory riſe."

Men, ſays Rouſſeau, are not made to be crowded into encloſures, but ſhould be ſpread over the ſurface of the earth, which they ſhould cultivate; the greater the aſſemblage, the greater is the corruption produced. The diſeaſes of the body, as well as the vices of the ſoul, are the infallible effect of a too numerous concourſe. Man is of all animals the leaſt calculated by nature to herd together. Men heaped together like ſheep would ſoon periſh. The breath of man is a mortal poiſon to his fellow men, and this is not only figuratively but literally true. Cities are the graves of the human ſpecies—after a few generations the race degenerates and periſhes; it muſt then be renewed, and this renovation is always derived from the country.

A Contract offered.

THE Directors of the Eaſtern Branch Bridge Company will receive propoſals until the firſt day of December next, for erecting a Bridge over the Eaſtern Branch of Potomac River, at the City of Waſhington. The width of the River where the Bridge is contemplated to be fixed, is fifteen hundred and forty three feet, and the average depth of water at common low tide is four feet, except the channel, which is from 12 to 24 feet deep—the width of the channel is 450 feet. It is wiſhed by the Directors that eſtimates may be furniſhed for a Bridge to be built on Piles or of Boats, as it is not yet determined by them, which of thoſe two kinds to adopt—it is alſo deſired, that plans of the Bridge may accompany the eſtimates, that the Directors may be the better enabled to judge of the advantages & diſadvantages of the two plans which have been ſuggeſted. A draw of thirty feet is intended to be made over the channel.

The propoſals muſt be ſealed, and directed, poſt paid, to the Subſcriber, in the City of Waſhington.

On good ſecurity being given for the performance of the contract—liberal advances will be made.

By order of the Directors,
WILLIAM BRENT, Secr'y.
