Addreſs to Subſcribers.

On the 31ſt of this month two years will have elapſed ſince the firſt appearance of the National Intelligencer.—During this period much has occurred abroad to awaken curioſity, and much at home to excite intereſt. The intrinſic importance of the events that have occurred has neceſſarily and properly produced theſe effects. It had been well for the national character, if other effects, had not accompanied them. Unfortunately for the peace of ſociety, party violence has burſt forth with unbridled fury, and threatens to proſtrate the brighteſt talent and pureſt virtue of the community.

The transfer of power from one ſet of men, governed by certain political principles, to another ſet of men guided by different principles, has kindled a reſentment, that preſcribes to itſelf no limits; and too many of our preſſes, adminiſtering to its gratification, are filled with the baſeſt and loweſt detraction.

Under theſe circumſtances it becomes the Editor of the National Intelligencer openly and diſtinctly to aſſign the rules of his conduct; rules which he has found no reaſon to abandon, and which it is not probable he will ever relinquiſh.

Believing the freedom of ſpeech and of the preſs to be one of the great bulwarks of our liberties, it has been and ſhall be vigorouſly ſuſtained. That freedom conſiſts in the temperate diſcuſſion of all principles and meaſures on which the general happineſs depends. While on the one hand, it holds no principle too ſacred for examination, it forbids all perſonal ſlander and vulgar language. The National Intelligencer, therefore, has not, and will not enter into perſonal warfare with any wretch who by his crimes has abandoned himſelf to infamy, nor will it, elated with editorial conſequence, make the nation the theatre of the petty feuds of hoſtile prints. Such falſehoods and follies will be left to their own fate. On the contrary detraction will be diſcountenanced, and the plain language of truth, whenever it ſhall be thought neceſſary, ſhall put down the ſlanderer.

Believing that our happineſs eſſentially depends upon a republican government, and that ſuch government is alike ſuſceptible of abuſe and improvement, whatever increaſes a love and reſpect for it whatever tends to deſtroy its abuſes or promiſes its amelioration ſhall be admitted.

Believing that the meaſures of the late adminiſtration tended to draw into diſrepute the republican ſyſtem by incorporating numerous and dangerous abuſes which were calculated with great rapidity to hurry us into the common vortex of ruined nations, thoſe meaſures have been held up to public opinion as unworthy of imitation; while the meaſures of an adminiſtration, zealouſly attached to the republican ſyſtem, and reſolutely bent on keeping this country apart from foreign connection, have been enforced as the offspring of a wiſe and honeſt policy.

Theſe meaſures are well known to the readers of the National Intelligencer, with the arguments urged as well in their oppoſition as ſupport. Since the eſtabliſhment of the paper, every document of importance has been given, and the debates of the legiſlature at a length which, it is believed, is unparralleled. Nor will the malice of party aſcribe to them a want of rigid impartiality.

From this expoſition, it will be ſeen that the Editor does not claim an exemption from decided political convictions. However the recluſe ſtudent may ſhroud himſelf in apathy, the citizen of a genuine epublic, in the midſt of the political ſcene, muſt have little ſenſibility and leſs patriotiſm not to embrace with zeal one ſide or the other. If he believe the general happineſs to depend upon the republican ſyſtem, if he believe that ſyſtem to depend upon the unimpaired enjoyment of peace, upon the moderation of taxes, and if he believe that the men now in power will inſure theſe effects, while there in oppoſition would mar them, can he be indifferent? No fellow citizens, while we are moderate let us be vigilant; while we limit ourſelves to truth, let us embrace that truth with zeal; and while we deſire the happineſs of our opponents, let us take care of our own.

So long as the National Intelligence is conducted on theſe principles, it may, without preſumption, claim the ſupport of the enlightened patriot. That ſupport it already poſſeſſes in an eminent degree. But an extended ſubſcription, while it rewarded the Editor, would enable him to improve the plan of the Paper, and to enlarge the ſphere of its uſefulneſs. Under this impreſſion, and with this view the Editor requeſts the perſon, who ſhall receive the accompanying ſpecimen papers, to obtain as many ſubſcribers as ſhall be in his power, on one condition, which experience has proved to be indiſpenſable, the actual payment by each ſubſcriber of five Dollars in advance.

LAND FOR SALE.

The ſubſcriber offers for ſale the tract of Land where he now lives, lying in King George County, on Potomac Creek, containing eleven hundred and ten acres;—This Land is very heavily timbered with all the different kinds of timber common to this climate, and a rich ſoil. Is bounded by the creek about three quarters of a mile, where the water is from eight to ten feet deep. There is an excellent Rock fiſhery on it, and at the fiſhing ſhore (which is conſidered a good ſtand for a ſtore.) There is a ſtore, a dwelling houſe, kitchen, ſtable, and corn houſe, a good garden, &c. About a mile from the Creek is a good dwelling houſe, containing five rooms, every convenient out-houſe, a well encloſed, yard, garden, &c. at preſent occupied by the Subſcriber. From the ſituation of this land, the goodneſs of its ſoil (which is adapted to the growth of corn, wheat, and tobacco) the quantity of wood it contains, its contiguity to the water, and facility of conveyance to Alexandria and the City of Waſhington, induces the ſubſcriber to believe that he will meet with a ready ſale, as he is determined to aſk a moderate price to induce a ſpeedy ſale. For terms apply to Daniel C. Brent, Eſqr. and Mr. Jeremiah Booth, of the City of Waſhington, or to the Subſcriber, or in his abſence, to Mr. John Murphy, who lives on the premiſes.

Miller, Richard W. Aſhton, Henry Lawrence, Clement Lawrence, James C. Nielſon, and Pierce L. Tanner. Defendants.

THE object of the Bill is to obtain a decree for the ſale of the bridge over Potomac river built by, and belonging to the George Town bridge company to raiſe money to pay a large ſum of money due from the ſaid company to ſundry perſons.

The bill ſtates that theſe debts amounting to the ſum of dols. 26 067 76 principal, beſides a large ſum for intereſt thereon, were all contracted for in and about the building of the ſaid bridge, that the accounts have been ſubmitted to the ſtockholders and that they have approved of the expenditures of theſe monies and the contracting of this amount of the debt. That the whole monies ſubſcribed by the ſtockholders for building this bridge have been appropriated and paid away properly and fairly, that this amount of debt ſtill remains unpaid by the company, who though frequently called on, will make no proviſion for the payment of the ſame.

The bill further ſtates that Samuel Blodget jun. Thomas L. Moore, James Reid, Hudſon & York, John Reid & William Vaughan, Defendants above named, reſide in Philadelphia in the commonwealth of Pennſylvania; that Harriſon and Sterret, Charles Carroll, James M'Henry, Charles Wallace, John Muir, William Stewart, Lucia Deblock, Alexander M'Donald and Co. Joſeph Hardy, Thomas Charle Clark, Benjamin Clark, Martha Clark, Charles Thomas Clark and Ann Maria Clark, Defendants, above named reſide, in the ſtate of Maryland; That Joſeph Covacheche and Dominic Lynch, Defendants above named, reſide in the city of New-York; that Farris and Stocker above named reſide in the ſtate of Maſſachuſetts, and that Alexander J. Miller, Richard W. Aſhton, Henry Lawrence, Clement Lawrence, James C. Nielſon, & Pierce L. Tanner reſide out of the Diſtrict of Columbia and not within the juriſdiction of this Court, but where they do reſide, is not known.

It is on the complainants motion ordered that they procure this order to be inſerted at leaſt once in ſix ſucceſſive weeks in the National Intelligencer and Waſhington Federaliſt, before the firſt day of February next, to the intent that the aforeſaid defendants, and all other perſons (if any there be) who are intereſted in the premiſes, may have notice of the complainants application and of the ſubſtance and object of the bill, and that the ſaid defendants and each of them may be warned to appear here in perſon, or by ſolicitor, on or before the fourth Monday in July next, to ſhew cauſe if any they can, why a decree ſhould not paſs as prayed by the ſaid bill.
