

REUNION OF THE FOSTER FAMILY AT
PON QUOGUE, AUG. 8, 1877.

The following account was published in the "Sag Harbor Express" and the "Southside Signal" of August 16, 1877:

A reunion of the family of John S. and Phebe Foster was held at Pon Quogue, L. I., on the 8th of the present month. The occasion was a memorable one in the history of the family, it being eighteen years since a similar gathering took place.

The entire family at the present time numbers one hundred and thirty-nine, there being one hundred and six direct descendants and thirty-three sons and daughters in law.

Through the kindness of Mr. George B. Brown and others, the large tent belonging to the Methodist Society of Sag Harbor was obtained and pitched in a field belonging to Edward H. Foster. An inpromptu grove of cedar and evergreen trees was picturesquely arranged about the tent and
