"An ounce of prevention is worth pounds of cure."

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, prescribed by

Lee's Anti-Bilious Pills,

Prepared by Richard Lee & Son, Baltimore.

This medicine has been for eight years put into extensive sale with a degree of perfect happiness in the physician's opinion, to the great gain of Lee, Wright, Sadler, and the Southern and Central States, particularly in Alexandria, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Baltimore, Washington, Georgetown and Annapolis. It is without a number of patients to each, who have taken it, and who will, with pleasure, give their testimony, in every case of this country ranging in moment, mildness, prevalence and malignancy, from mere indisposition, to the most malignant fever.

Its effects are of a mild and salutary nature, from which a view of a medicine that is mildness of purgative, and yet a cathartic.

It is not to be any more generally introduced in Baltimore, and in the Southern States, than it is in Philadelphia, from which place the proprietors have received a number of letters, in which they state, that it is the most valuable medicine, and that it is the only medicine that ever was known to be so effectual in curing the malignant fever.

The proprietors do affirm, that it is perfectly innocuous, and can never do any injurious effect, in any case, or under any circumstances
