

sent out for our troops at Malta; a circumstance which does not look as if they were soon coming home.

DUTCH MAIL.

A mail arrived this morning from Holland. By this conveyance we have received letters from the Hague of the 10th inst. informing us that on the preceding day, between the hours of one and two in the afternoon, the French ambassador Semouville waited on the president of the administration of the States, and in the presence of the Secretary of State for foreign affairs, informed him that he had received, by an express from Paris, "Orders to inform the administration of the States without delay, that the first consul had learned with as much surprise as indignation, that persons fond of revolutions were again desirous to disturb the tranquillity of the Batavian Republic, and even employed for that purpose the most respectable names; that the first consul as an ally of the Republic, invites the government to employ every means to maintain the order of things established by the constitution."

October 21.

Government has received intelligence of very active preparations in the French ports, particularly at Toulon, where the utmost diligence is employed to repair the losses occasioned by the victory of Albuquer. It is a fact, that a greater quantity of naval stores of all kinds has been imported into France within the last fifteen months from the Baltic, than the amount of the whole supply in these articles during the eight preceding years.

Only thirteen members present—No quorum.

SATURDAY, December 11.

Only fourteen members present—No quorum.

The House of Representatives of South Carolina have elected Robert Stark, Speaker.

We state on the authority of a Raleigh Paper, that the Legislature of North Carolina has refused, in its political character, to recommend it to the Governor to pardon John Staully, for having killed General Spaight in a duel; but that on the recommendation of a considerable majority of the members, and a number of civil officers of the government, Mr. Staully has been pardoned by the Governor.

DIED at St. Vincennes, on the 11th ult. William Clark, first judge of the Indiana Territory.

DIED, at his late near Halifax, on Saturday the 27th instant, Colonel John B. Althe, in the 54th year of his age—Col. Althe was a native of North-Carolina, and embarked, early in life, as an Officer in the American Revolutionary War; where he served, with reputation to himself and usefulness to his Country, until the close of it.—He had since been repeatedly called on by his fellow-citizens as their Representative in our State Legislature and in Congress; and has ever been distinguished, as well for the urbanity of his manners, as for the integrity and patriotism of his conduct.—He was a zealous Republican; and the estimation in which he was held by his country, will readily appear by a vote of the General Assembly of the 20th ult. through which he was elected Chief Magistrate for the ensuing year, by a large majority of the two Houses.

JAMES TURNER, a decided Republican, is elected Governor of North Carolina. There were several candidates. On the fourth ballot, Mr. Turner had 112 votes, out of nearly 180.

Richard Winn is elected a representative in Congress for South Carolina, in the 10th of Thomas Sumner.

Toussaint is still a prisoner in the Chateau de Tours, near Befancon, and his children are detained under a strong guard at L'Isle de Rhe.

M. Volney has been chosen an Honorary Member of the Asiatic Society in Calcutta.

André Michaux has lately published in Paris the Natural History of the Oaks of North America. It contains figures and descriptions of twenty species, and a number of varieties. Citizen Michaux travelled America for 11 years together, from the 27th to the 58th degrees of latitude, from the Bahama Islands and the Cape of Florida to Hudson's Bay, comprising a space of 750 leagues, and penetrated into the country more than 450 leagues. The French Government having nominated him to perform a part in the expedition of Citizen Boudin, he has left to his for the care of publishing his Manuscripts, among which is a relation of his Travels and a History of the plants of America.

The following elegant Italian verses were written at Niagara, in October, 1796, by Dr. GIAM BAPTISTA SCANDILLA, who afterwards, in September, 1798, fell a victim to the yellow-fever, in the city of New-York, just as he had finished his American tour, and was on the eve of embarking for Europe. It will, doubtless, be agreeable to his friends to see this literary morsel, which he wrote to please an accomplished lady in Upper Canada; and it will be additionally acceptable to every class of readers, on account of the English translation which accompanies it, done by a gentleman who cherishes, with tenderness, the memory of the deceased author.

LA CASCATA DI NIAGARA.

Giunta al confine dove il petrolio letto In voragin si cangia ampia e profonda, Carva a noi fatis precipita gioconda Da non falsi ocean spinta alla stretta.

Rotto con fragor cupo, in fudo e silenzioso Il flutto rimbalza, on l'acra inonda Il ciclo in fumo e al ciel par si confonda Sotto spie tremò il fuo, balma nel petto.

Con passo incerto quell' abisso inondo Da una rupe a mirar fami, e a quel ino Oror rimasi stupido il fenno. Sul nebbioso volumine ino a tubino: Tali interio; a calcar natura in peno; Tali in me di morral più nulla elimo.

THE FALLS OF NIAGARA.

Borne to the rocky led's extremest brow, The flood leaps headlong, nor a moment ceases;

To join the whirlpool deep and vast below, The flutted ocean hurries thro' the straits, Hoop'd o'er the broken wave; and upward playn

Dilates in air—distilling vapours prest, Confound the troubled elements with heaven: Earthquakes beneath; heart trembles in the breast.

With steps uncertain to a jutting rock To gaze upon the immense abyss, I hic, And all my senses feel a horrid shock.

As down the steep I turn my dizzy eye, On cloudy steams I take a slight sublime, Leaving the world and nature's work behind;

And as the purg' empyreal light I climb, Reflect with rapture on the IMMORTAL MIND.

[Morning Chant.]

Lake Erie.

One of the German papers gives the following account of the Military force of some of the great Continental Powers. The armies of Russia are said to consist of 480,000 regular Troops, exclusive of 70,000 Irregulars, such as Cossacks, Tartars, Georgians, &c. The House of Austria has an Army of 330,000 men, of whom 52,000 are Cavalry. Every effort is likewise making to induce Hungary to raise her Peace Establishment to 80,000, and her War Establishment to 100,000 men.

The Forces of Prussia amount to 275,000 men, of whom 45,000 are Cavalry; and it is said to be the intention of the Prussian Cabinet to raise them to 300,000. According to intelligence from Genoa, the Squadron preparing at Toulon, consists of five ships, two of which are of the Line. It is said to be destined for Constantinople, but the object of it is unknown.

From an excellent Geographical-Statistical View of the German Empire before and after the peace of Luneville, by M. VON HOFF, it appears that France acquired by that peace from 1200 to 1260 square German miles, or nearly one ninth of the whole Empire, which, before the French revolution, comprehended 11,500 square German miles, 2,300 cities, 3,000 market-towns, 93,000 villages, and 28 millions of inhabitants. By the peace, Germany loses 3,900,000 of inhabitants; that is, nearly one-tenth of her whole population. The diminished portion produces cattle, venison, flax, grain, wine (the most esteemed sorts, however, grow on the right bank of the Rhine), gold, silver, copper, tin, quick-silver, iron, marble, pit-coal, salt, &c. By the cession of the provinces on the left bank of the Rhine, Germany has likewise given up some of her most considerable rivers, the Sheldt, the Maese, the Moselle, and Saar; the mineral waters of Aix-la-Chapelle, Spa, and Chauxfontaine; and the important manufactures of linen laces, cloth, and leather, in the low countries.

Richmond, December 8, 1832. Last Monday, being the day appointed for the meeting of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, a quorum having assembled, they proceeded to the choice of a speaker, when Edmund Harrison Esq. was elected, and being conducted to the chair, he returned thanks to the house for the honor conferred on him.

Raleigh, Nov. 29. A letter was this morning read, from the Governor elect, dated the 24th inst. acknowledging the receipt of the message of the two Houses, informing him of his election, expressive of the honor conferred upon him by the Legislature, and assuring him that as soon as his strength would permit, he would attend to take the necessary oaths; but also the bearer of the letter, was also the bearer of an account of his death, having died three days afterwards, at eleven o'clock in the morning!

Both Houses immediately resolved to go into mourning for thirty days, by each member wearing a piece of black crape or ribbon on the left arm.

Thursday next is fixed for balloting for a new Governor. No one has yet been nominated. It is supposed there will be several candidates.

COLUMBIA. (S. C.) Nov. 19.

On Monday last, about two o'clock in the afternoon, the academy in this place was burnt to the ground. It is supposed it took fire from the chimney, as the flame was bursting out at the door when it was first discovered, which rendered it impossible to save it, or any part of its contents.

ATTENTION.

170,038 Acres of Land.

THIS body of land, in one entire and inclusive survey, is offered for sale to any individual or company, who may incline to purchase for the purposes of settlement and cultivation. It is situated in the State of Virginia, on the Great Kenawha River, Montgomery county, and is distinguished by the name of "The Great Bend of the Kenawha," being intersected by the Piney river, Great and Little Blaine rivers, Coal river, and unyield river, as also by numerous other creeks and waters, running into said rivers. Numerous mill-races, inexhaustible bodies of coal, and great appearances of ores, metals, salt springs, and fat licks, are to be found on this tract, besides which, sugar may be made thereon to any amount, the sugar treacher being in almost every part.

For fertility of soil, growth of timber, fitness for cultivation, salubrity of climate, and natural advantages, this body of land stands unrivalled by any tract of equal quantity in Western America; it will be submitted for sale to an entire purchaser, until the first day of June next, on very advantageous terms; after which, it cannot be disposed of at any price, the present proprietor being compelled to a divulsion thereof. An indisputable title will be given, and for further particulars, as to terms of sale, and payment, enquire of JOHN BECKLEY, Esq. Clerk to the House of Representatives of the United States, at the city of Washington. November 1, 1832.
