(a) This column shows the true amount of gross Revenue accruing during each quarter (after deducting from the total amount of duties, the amount of debentures, bounties and allowances, granted for or in lieu of drawback on the re-exportation of foreign articles,) and subject to no other deductions but the expenses of collection.

(b) The accounts of several small ports, for these three quarters, are on estimate.

(c) At a Meeting of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, on the Seventh of June, 1802.

PRESENT,
The Secretary of State,
The Secretary of the Treasury,
The Attorney General of the U. States.

THE Secretary of the Treasury reported to the Board, that provision has already been made to meet nearly all the demands which will become due in Holland, during the course of the present year, but that it is necessary to make immediate provision for the payments on account of principal and interest which fall due there, during the first five months of the year 1803, and amounting to four millions, four hundred and thirty-nine thousand eight hundred and thirty Guilders, and payable at the following periods, viz.

1st of January, 872,700 Guilders.
1st of February, 986,350 do.
1st of March, 601,000 do.
1st of June, 1,979,780 do.

That from the great diminution of trade, between this country and Holland, he has ascertained during his late excursion to New York and Philadelphia, that it is impracticable to obtain bills on Holland to that amount: That by the United States, at forty five per cent advance, or at the rate of five hundred and eighty dollars per share; which last proposition is recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, as the most eligible; as exclusively of the advantageous rate of Exchange, thereby secured, the transaction will not have any unfavorable effect on the rate of Exchange generally, and by so considerably diminishing the demand, will enable the United States to obtain what is still wanted at a reasonable rate: And because in his opinion, the price obtained for the Bank Shares, is more than could be obtained, were they thrown in the market for sale, and more than their intrinsic value.

Whereupon, it was resolved, by the Board, "That the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized to sell the shares of the Stock of the Bank of the United States, belonging to the United States; and that the proceeds thereof be applied to the payment of the capital or principal of any part of the debt of the United States, which had become due to the Bank of the United States, before or during the course of the year 1796, and which remains still unpaid, in conformity to the provisions of the act entitled "An act making provision for the payment of certain debts of the United States," passed on the 31st day of May 1796."

Attest. EDWARD JONES, Secretary to the Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund.

Lancaster, Dec 21, 1802.
This day, at twelve o'clock the governor clerk took and subscribed the requisite oaths of office, after which he delivered the following address:

GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS.
Gentlemen of the Senate, and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives.

By your public act of the eighteenth it is authenticated, that my fellow citizens have re-elected me as their governor for the three years next ensuing. In obedience to their will, I have taken the necessary oaths to qualify me for the execution of the important trust. The approbation of my conduct in that station for the last constitutional term, manifested by their votes, merits and receives my most grateful acknowledgments. A majority of more than thirty thousand free and independent citizens have been pleased to sanction my late administration, and when I perceive myself surrounded by enlightened and virtuous coadjutors in the government of the State, whom I can call my personal friends, I am encouraged to hope, that our joint endeavors will fill add to the security of liberty, property, and every thing deemed valuable in society.

Heretofore, the constitutions and laws of the United States and of this State have been my constant guide; and the peculiar happiness of the inhabitants of Pennsylvania has been my chief care; I shall persevere in the same principles. The early education and unfounded prejudices of some among us, inimical to a republican form of government, in a degree darkened our prospects and impeded our political movements, but I do not despair of reconciling even those to our system, by using reason, persuasion and lenient measures. In compliance with precedent, I have laid thus much; I shall add no more, but that my fame, and talents and all the powers I possess, shall be devoted to the service of my native State, and in alleviating the miseries and increasing the comforts of my fellow mortals.

THOMAS M'KEAN.
Lancaster, December 21, 1802.

The following is the answer of the house of representatives, to the governor's speech at the opening of the session, with his reply.

To THOMAS M'KEAN, Governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

SIR,
Impressed with sentiments of esteem and respect, as the representatives of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, we congratulate you on your re-election. We regard it, not only as a popular recognition of political principles, but as a practical proof, that the officer who discharges his official duties with integrity and firmness, will receive the approbation and support of a free and independent people.

We hear with indignation and regret, that the repeated efforts made to prevent the encroachments on the soil and sovereignty of Pennsylvania, have not produced the desired effect. We agree, with you, that the peace and honor of the government have been too long violated and insulted, by the lawless and arrogant combination of Connecticut intruders. And should the judicial authority be defeated in its legitimate endeavors to punish the delinquent intruders, and to protect the rights of property, you may rely on our support, in the decisive measures which it will be your duty to pursue.

In deliberating on the various other important objects, recommended to our consideration, we will cordially co-operate with you, to remedy existing evils and promote the welfare of the commonwealth; anticipating, as the result of our united endeavors, a continuation of those inestimable blessings attached to a free republican government.

GOVERNOR'S REPLY.
TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
Of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Gentlemen,
I thank you for your kind address. It must be pleasing to our constituents, to perceive the legislative and executive branches of government in perfect harmony, and united cordially in the promotion of public happiness.

THOMAS M'KEAN.

At a meeting of the Commissioners appointed under the 6th article of the British Treaty to decide upon illegal captures, held at London on Wednesday the 6th day of October, 1802.
Ordered—That Mr. Cabot, assisted by the secretary of the board, submit to each of the reports of Messrs. Cabot and Glennie, as have been examined and approved, an estimate of the interest at the rate of 6 per cent. to be included in the amount of compensation to be awarded according to the following rules, viz—

Upon sums allowed in the said reports, for the net value of cargo and adventures, interest is to commence from the time when such value would probably have been received, i. e. from the expiration of 3 months, after the probable time of arrival at the port of destination. The same rule is to be applied to sums allowed for the value of the vessel, for freight, for demurrage, for costs and expenses incurred, or disbursements of whatever kind, made before the expiration of the said 3 months.

Upon sums allowed for cost and expense incurred after the expiration of the said 3 months, and actually paid by the parties, or their agents, (not including such as have been paid by the government of the United States,) and generally for all disbursements, of whatsoever kind, actually made by the said parties or their agents, after the expiration of the said 3 months, interest is to commence from the time of the expenditure except only when the items of expenditure, consisting of one general charge, have different dates, not greatly distant from each other, in which case the latest date only shall be taken.

The sum in every award being payable according to the late convention, in three equal annual instalments, the first thereof will be due on the 15th day of July 1803, the sums reported are to be divided into thirds, and interest is to be estimated on one of these thirds to the time when the first instalment is payable; on another of these thirds to the time when the second instalment is payable; and so on of the third; and the results of each estimate being added together and to the whole principal, the total is again to be divided into thirds as the instalments of the award.

Whatever sums have been received from the captors of the British government are to be credited at the time of payment by deducting the same from the principal and interest then due, and the further calculation of interest is to be made on the balance only.

Where the vessel and cargo belong to different claimants; and generally where there are several claimants, not partners in trade, having interests which it may be perfectly practicable and convenient to separate, distinct calculations are to be made for the share of every such claimant.

Order of the Board.
2d October, 1802.

"That in cases where the agent of the United States is memorialist, the awards shall be made payable to him, his executors, administrators, or assigns in trust for claimants, unless when at the express desire of the claimants, signified by some writing, duly executed & authenticated, the same shall, in discretion of the board, be directed to be made payable to the claimants themselves, or to a private agent or agents named and appointed for that purpose by them. In which cases care shall be taken that the government of the United States shall be reimbursed for its advances for costs and expenses therein, and indemnified for its responsibility for any such costs and expenses to the satisfaction of the public agent."

N. B. The agent of the United States is memorialist in all, or nearly all the cases.
