PART VI.
NEW YORK TRIBUNE

The Tribune Graphic

SECTION ONE

SUNDAY
JUNE 18, 1916

French soldiers testing new apparatus for shooting liquid fire. The fire is contained and generated in the tank carried on the soldier's back, and projected through the hose. Hand grenade squads follow the liquid fire shooters. Medem Photo Service.

After the capture of German trenches at St. Eloi. The men of the British "Fighting Fifth" were the heroes of this encounter. Here they are celebrating their victory wearing the new English steel helmets which, it will be noted, are flatter than the French helmets, and displaying captured trench guns. © Underwood & Underwood.