

The fifty-fourth annual meeting of the National Education Association in session at Madison Square Garden on July 4. Thirty thousand educators from the North, South, East and West made this the most largely attended gathering in the history of the organization. © Underwood & Underwood

T. Suffern Tailor, acting as chauffeur for T. Suffern Tailor, Jr., at Newport

Underwood & Underwood

Masses and Classes and Their Doings in the Day's News

The Prince of Wales as he appears "somewhere on the British front." His daring on several occasions has put him in jeopardy, and the officers who are charged with keeping him out of the danger zone have their hands full.

© American Press Ass'n

SOCIETY WOMEN PARADE FOR PREPAREDNESS—The society women in Newport's summer colony led the Independence Day preparedness parade there. The photograph shows Mrs. Austin Gray leading one division. Behind her are marching Miss Mimi Scott, Mrs. Henry P. Perry, Mrs. John Sanford, Miss A. Stuart, Miss L. Scott and Mrs. Arthur Iselin

© Underwood & Underwood

Oliver Harriman and Mrs. Angier B. Duke dancing at the lawn fete given by Mrs. Oliver Harriman at her White Plains estate.

Greeley Photo Service

Mrs. Oliver Harriman and her sons, Jack (left) and Borden. Mrs. Harriman gave a Fourth of July lawn fete to raise funds for sending men to the Plattsburgh training camp. More than $2,000 has been subscribed for this object.

Greeley Photo Service

THE HOLIDAY MECCA OF NEW YORK'S MASSES—Here's a part of the 400,000 New Yorkers who spent the day at Coney Island on July 4. One hundred thousand of them sought the surf. And not one accident to these safe and sane celebrators was reported to the police.

© Underwood & Underwood