Subjects Wise, Kings Would Not Play At."

This is practically the same part of Verdun on the Meuse as is shown on the opposite page as it now appears. Part of the Cathedral appears in the left hand corner. The photograph was taken after German artillery had been bombarding the town for several months. © Underwood & Underwood

German prisoners, captured by the British in their drive against the German trenches in the Somme sector, arriving in Southampton. Most of them are glad to be prisoners. Underwood & Underwood.
