

First photographs of the funeral of the Emperor Francis Joseph
Throng lined the streets of Vienna to see the funeral procession for the dead ruler of Austria. It moved about for an hour before the service in St. Stephen's Cathedral.
Central News Photo Service

First photographs of the funeral of the Emperor Francis Joseph
The body, clad in a field marshal's full uniform, lay in state in Schoenbrunn Castle in a casket marked with the scarlet and gold Hapsburg coat of arms.
Central News Photo Service

Two hundred and thirty children were Christmas guests of the sailors on the battleship New York; Thelma Wilkening, five years old, danced for them while the ship's band played.
Greeley Photo Service

A Christmas cross of light shone from the windows of The Tribune Building on Christmas night, flashing a message of good will to thousands on the streets. The Gramercy Park Neighborhood Association, which originated the lighting plan, hopes other buildings will follow The Tribune's lead next year.
Greeley Photo Service

Lady Scott, widow of the famous British polar explorer, Captain Scott, and her son. Lady Scott is one of thousands of English women engaged in making munitions.
International Film Service

A target for an air bomb. How a destroyer patrolling rough water near Ostende looked to an aviator in a seaplane.
Underwood & Underwood