

The Very Newest Thing Is the Victory Step

These two pictures, forming so striking a contrast, show, respectively, Princess Mary driving in Windsor Park, and some French poilus driving—on what so recently was the Western front. It would be hard to tell which show the greater pride in victory: the fine span of horses or the lowly span of oxen.

Top photo, Central News; bottom, Press Illustrating Service.

