ALL New York to Tony Sarg is a stage and all the men and women merely marionettes—whether pictured by his pen and brush or animated by the wires in the wings of his little theatre. Here is his vivid conception of the daily 5 o'clock race and riot at Brooklyn Bridge, the very vortex of New York's melting pot.