

Men Who Have Shaped the Destinies of the British Empire

SIR EDWARD GREY,
who was Secretary for Foreign Affairs when the war began.

SIR EDWARD CARSON, who withdrew from the Lloyd George Cabinet
because of his views on Ulster.

WINSTON CHURCHILL,
the "stormy petrel of British politics,"
Minister of War and Air Service.
(© Underwood & Underwood.)

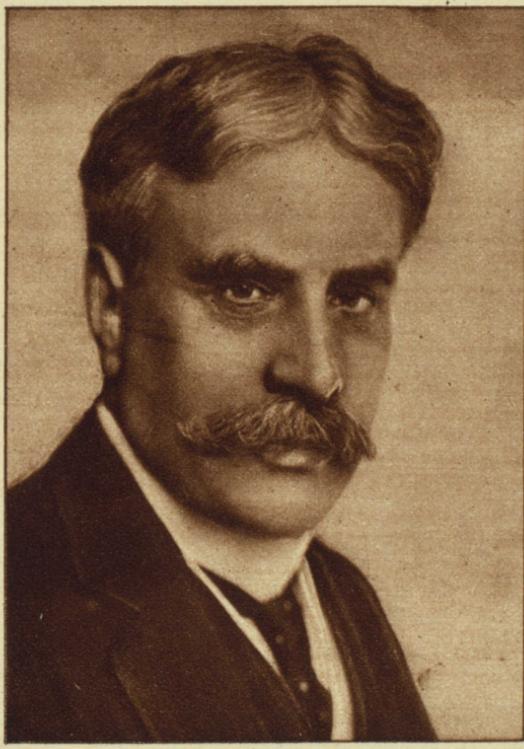

HON.
WILLIAM MORRIS HUGHES, Premier of Australia, and an ardent supporter of the war.

CECIL ARTHUR SPRING-RICE, for many years British Ambasador to the United States.

ARTHUR HENDERSON,
labor leader in the British Parliament, and member of Lloyd George Cabinet.

SIR ROBERT LAIRD BORDEN, Premier of Canada, who has been active in prosecuting the war.

THE MARQUIS OF LANSDOWNE, whose letter advocating a negotiated peace created discussion in 1918.