

Nature Often Unfriendly in the Fighting Zone

BRITISH ARMORED CAR SUNK DEEP IN THE FLANDERS MUD DURING THE RAINY SEASON. DURING THE SOMME FIGHTING OF 1917, THE WEATHER LIMITED GREATLY THE SCOPE OF THE BRITISH VICTORIES.

(© British Official Photo, from Underwood & Underwood.)

BRITISH SOLDIERS CONSTRUCTING TRENCHES IN A FLOODED AREA NEAR BLANGY, FRANCE. IN SUCH DISTRICTS SAND BAGS HAVE TO BE EMPLOYED IN VAST NUMBERS TO FORM THE SIDES OF THE TRENCH.

(© British Official Photo, from Underwood & Underwood.)